PatternFly Virtual F2F

2022

Overview

Who?

PatternFly design & development, user experience research & development.

What?

The PatternFly team set aside a few days last week to connect, talk through priorities & workflows, and plan for the upcoming major release.

Where?

Small groups across the US where possible, but also fully remote web conferencing.

Why?

- Take a step back from heads-down work to evaluate our progress over the last few years, where we stand today
- Review current initiatives and ongoing progress
- Identify areas to improve cross-team collaboration
- Discuss innovative ideas around new approaches and technologies we can utilize
- Talk through bigger goals as a group for broader input and alignment

Which areas focus on improving the consumer experience?

ALL OF THEM!
